

Steel structures

Steel structures are widely used for all kinds of construction work such as:

- commercial buildings
- public buildings
- warehouses
- production facilities.

Tikkurila offers solutions for new construction and maintenance painting that protect against corrosion and extend the service life of steel structures in different conditions. These include mild stress for interior surfaces, heavy stress for exterior surfaces or even extreme chemical stress. A wide color range, including metallic colors can also provide an aesthetic dimension.

Exterior steel structures

Interior steel structures

Are you looking for a solution for your business?

Please contact our technical staff to get more information or advice >>